The Art of the Spread: Connection and Method

A spread is not just an arrangement of cards on the table; it is the map that organizes chaos and allows intuition to flow with structure. While the Mind Map gives you the isolated meaning, the Spread teaches you how to create the narrative.

The Purpose of the Structure

Each position in a spread functions as a "specific question." The secret of a good reading does not lie in knowing what the card means, but in its meaning in that position. If an "Action" card falls in the "Obstacle" position, then excessive initiative is what hinders the reading.

The Formulation of the Question

Tarot responds best to open and reflective questions..

Avoid: "Am I going to get married?"

Choose: "What energies are acting on my relationship and how can I strengthen the bond?"

The clearer the intention while shuffling, the clearer the answer in the positions.

The Guiding Thread

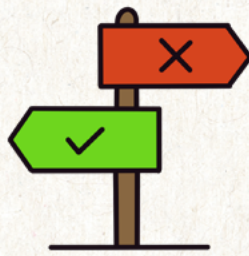

When performing any of the methods in this guide, do not interpret the cards as isolated elements. Observe the connections:

Color Palette: Are the colors of the cards that appeared similar? (Indicates harmony or monotony)..

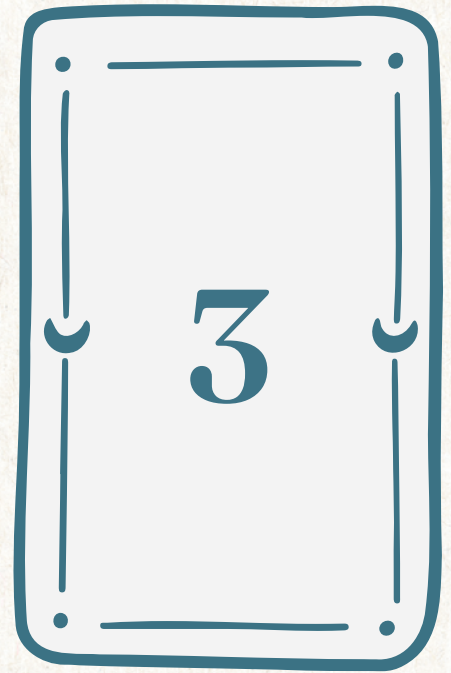

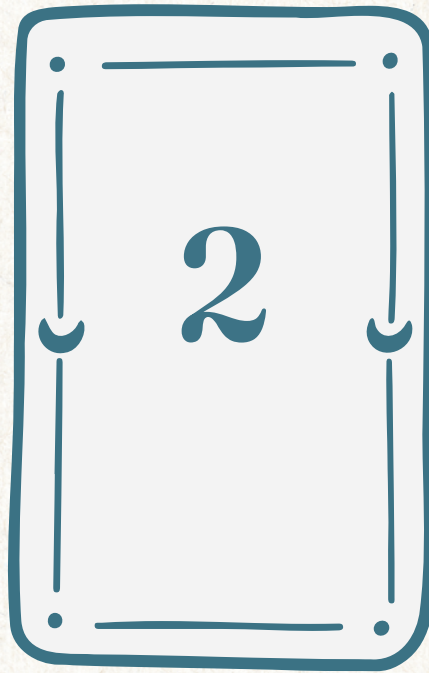

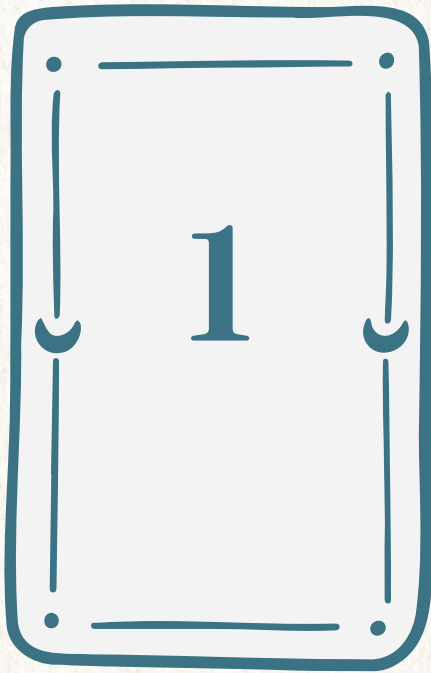

Direction: Which direction are the characters in the cards looking? If they are looking at the previous card, the focus is on the past; if they are looking at the next one, the focus is on the future..

Synergy: How does the card in the "Advice" position relate to the "Present" card?

YES OR NO SPREAD

This reading is ideal for obtaining quick answers and clear guidance regarding a specific question. It is recommended to use three cards.

1. Three Upright Cards:

Definite Yes.

2. Two Upright and One Reversed:

Yes with Reservations (the outcome depends on your action).

3. Two Reversed and One Upright:

Not for the Moment (there are significant obstacles).

4. Three Reversed Cards:

Definite No.
